Arrested by Patrolman John Crowley and after he had made his statement, using the same explanation, the man was taken to the police station where he was arrested on a charge of robbery in the case of the man who had been held in $2500 bail for a year last Thursday.

WITHOUT OVERCOAT.
As if in confirmation of his story of stealing for his wife, the man was arrested without an overcoat which he was wearing. With another man, he said he carried himself to the police station in a car.

Remaking Jewelry

Jason Weiler & Sons do a tremendous business in their remounting department. Here expert craftsmen make over old and new jewelry brought in by customers into new pieces that are up to date. Customers may submit designs of their own or our artists will design something for them, or customers may select a piece of jewelry from the enormous Jason Weiler & Sons' stock to serve as a model. The result will be satisfactory, the cost trifling. See us about reducing your old wedding ring to the narrow band so stylish today. The original inscription will remain intact.

DRINK WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Pains or Bladder Is Irritated

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to excrete it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, causing you to void two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and cause salt to be excreted, take four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then get into their normal state. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate the organs relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot fail and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

FILM ROMANCE SERIAL BEGINS MONDAY

Why did Bobbie Benson steal away from the party given in her honor by the famous motion picture director?

Bobbie was out to make her way to the movies, and had determined that nothing should stop her in the progress to that goal. For her ambition was to become a famous actress and everything.

She is the little "Hollywood Girl," heroine of a fascinating story that starts in the Boston Evening American on Monday. She was a school teacher, and a crowd of excitement and admiration followed her as she had imagined. An easy one as she had imagined. Other girls had learned the same thing by experience, but this girl was a true woman, and did not give up. She was a true woman, and did not give up. She was a true woman, and did not give up.

DADDY OF ALL U. S. DOG SOCIETIES MEETS IN HUB
The Boston Terrier Club, parent organization of all dog associations in America, held its monthly meeting at the Hub on Monday. A majority of the 400 members in attendance. Those present heard a report on the club's show last November, and discussed plans for entries in the annual dog show to be held in the Mechanics Building next week.

Funeral services for Herbert Maynard, founder of the firm of Maynard & Co., 100 State street, who died suddenly at his home in Cambridge, Mass., will be conducted at 11 o'clock at St. Paul's church on Saturday.

"DON'T TOUCH ME"—

But even as she said it came the thought, "He can help me get ahead in the movies if he wants to." So she kissed him. And then—read "Hollywood Girl," in next Monday's Boston Evening American.

G.O.P. Women Sing ~ Old-Time Songs in ~ 'Beacon Hill Concert'

SECOND SECTION

DEATH BILL FAVORED BY PUBLIC

Rep. Pitt. L. Battle
Asst. C. L. Battle
S. J. Battle

A black and white photograph of a group of people in formal attire, likely from the late 19th or early 20th century. The image is heavily overlaid with a large, faint, stylized illustration of a woman's face in the center. To the left, a man in a suit and top hat stands next to a woman in a light-colored dress. In the background, there is a small illustration of a building. To the right, a woman in a dark, low-cut dress stands next to a man in a suit. The overall image has a vintage, historical feel.

PREVIOUS REFORMS

As the 19th century progressed, the British government began to take steps to reform the legal system. The first major reform was the Judicature Act of 1873, which created the High Court of Justice and the Court of Appeal. This was followed by the Judicature Act of 1875, which created the Court of Chancery. The Judicature Act of 1875 was a landmark piece of legislation, as it was the first time that the courts had been reorganized since the 13th century. The reforms of the 19th century were a response to the growing complexity of the legal system and the need for a more efficient and organized judiciary.

The Value of Human Life at all ages

"Broke"—
but Worth $79,100

Dad earns $50 a week. He has just paid the rent, the grocery bill and the milk bill. He says he is "broke, but happy". ... In reality, he and his family are worth a small fortune... This American family represents $79,100 of the nation's wealth.

ALMOST any man will agree that his life is more valuable to himself than the things he owns. Now he can have the comfort of knowing how valuable his life is to others—from a dollars-and-cents standpoint.

Today it is known that the lives of our men, women and children are the nation's greatest asset. The economic value of these lives completely overshadows the value of all of our material wealth.

Recent computations made by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show the real economic value of the lives of our people from babyhood to old age. These figures are based on the average family—with an average income and take into

Perhaps the easiest way to realize this stupendous figure is to compare it with the total value of the entire material wealth of our country.

The latest available government reports show that everything we own—land, buildings, railroads, mines, raw materials, manufactured products, crops, live stock—everything included—was 321 billions. ... Our lives are worth nearly five times as much as our property.

America can well be proud of the additional insurance placed on the valuable lives of her people in 1926. More than 16 billion dollars ($16,000,000,000) was written and revived during the year by about 300 life insurance companies—making the total amount of life insurance in force approximately 80 billion dollars ($80,000,000,000).

About one sixth of the grand total is carried by the Metropolitan.

But while the people of this country carry 80 billion dollars of life insurance—or only one-twentieth of the economic value of their lives—they carry more than 160 billions of insurance on property—more than one-half of its value.

You would not insure a $5,000 house for $250—one twentieth of its value. You insure it adequately. But have you insured yourself adequately? Send for the booklet which tells you what you are worth. Study it. Then decide whether or not you carry enough insurance to protect your family.

America is rapidly gaining a better knowledge of the value of its greatest wealth—human lives.

The America of the future will better safeguard its wealth and happiness.

Walker to Box

Ton Milligan

London, Feb. 17 (AP)—

Walker of New Jersey, middleweight champion of the world, and Tommy Alderson, of Scotland, fought in a championship match in London, the Daily Mail says.

The fight probably will be staged in the Derby Day season, early in June.

It is thirteen years since a world's championship has been contested between an American titleholder and a British boxer.

Walker, who is now in the United States, is expected to return to England in the summer.

The American Home

What Makes It Happy? What Makes It Unhappy?
WRITE YOUR OPINION TO THE EDITOR

"This Is My Commandment, That Ye Love One Another, As I Have Loved You."—John, Chapter xv., 12.

The home is the foundation of civilization and happiness. Upon that earthly trinity, mother, father and child, the hope of the future rests.

We shall discuss with our readers these vitally important questions:

WHAT CONDITIONS INCREASE HAPPINESS IN THE HOME?

WHAT CONDITIONS DIMINISH OR DESTROY FAMILY HAPPINESS?

To emphasize this discussion, so important to our readers, and especially to MOTHERS, and to arouse interest in it, we shall print from time to time letters received from readers of the Evening American that seem to us most interesting and valuable in their suggestions. For each letter so printed we shall pay the writer ten dollars. Full names and addresses will not be published if the writer requests that they be not published. On Saturday we shall publish one letter that seems to the Editor most interesting than the others and pay for it $50.

It is not the Evening American's desire to enlist its readers in any mere "contest" frequently employed by newspapers to increase circulation. The Evening American's circulation is more than double that of any other Boston evening newspaper.

Our plan is to interest readers, especially women that read this newspaper, in a discussion, IMPORTANT TO THEM, upon which their happiness and the happiness of their children depends.

A special editorial department has been established to receive and attend to letters in this discussion.

What makes the American home happy?

What conditions, inside or outside of the home, diminish its happiness? What qualities in husband, wife and children contribute to happiness?

Those are the questions.

Answers containing preferably not more than 300 words may be addressed to HOME EDITOR, Evening American, P. O. Box 110, Boston, Mass.

Brief statements of personal experience will be appreciated, as for instance:

"Our home is a happy one. My husband's thoughts are there and his time is spent there."

Or, "Our home is not happy, because my husband finds his amusements and spends his leisure elsewhere."

A thousand conditions enter into the question that you are asked to discuss.

WEALTH, in reason, contributes to family happiness. EXCESS wealth has destroyed the happiness of many homes. LOVE between husband and wife, between parents and children is, of all things, most important.

Love is the foundation of the home, as it is the foundation and the supreme command of religious teaching.

"This is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I have loved you."—John, chapter xv., 12.

CONFIDENCE between husband and wife is essential to complete happiness. Respect of children for their parents, and in the parents QUALITIES THAT COMMAND RESPECT are important.

The subject is as wide as the ocean, important as life itself. Write as often as you please. As the discussion progresses new thoughts will occur to you. Write them simply, briefly.

The Evening American will print lists, frequently changed, of the conditions, characteristics and qualities that contribute to happiness or unhappiness in the home.

This discussion is open to all readers of the Evening American. Young men and women contemplating matrimony are especially invited to join the discussion, for the homes of the future depend on the ideas of the unmarried people of today.

The average American girl and boy want happy marriage, a good home, love that will last forever, children that will be an honor to their father and mother.

Young people are invited to join the discussion.

The questions involved are simple, important, understood by every human being. WHAT MAKES THE HOME HAPPY? WHAT MAKES THE HOME UNHAPPY?

Remember that success in letter writing depends on close thinking, and simple expression, not on any fancy style. A short letter is better than a long one.

Madame de Sevigne wrote to her daughter: "If I had had more time, I should have written you a shorter letter." Three hundred words are enough.

Happiness in the home is far more important than money, luxury or anything else.

The Evening American's hope is that this discussion, concentrating attention upon home life and its problems, may increase happiness, and help to make the American home what it should be, the ideal center of life and progress.

Write your letter today, addressed to HOME EDITOR, Evening American, P. O. Box 110, Boston, Mass.

81 Stories--Only Beginning

Somebody Will Build a REALLY Tall One

The Book Brothers, of Detroit, all under 36 years of age, appear to be natural-born BUILDERS. This, their next building, will be the tallest office building in the world, with 81 stories.

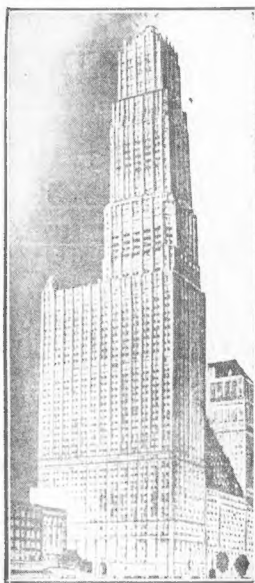

Thousands will work and make a living inside this building's walls; it will make the Tower of Babel look small.

When that ancient tower was built men lived in little houses. And what they thought would be high enough to reach up to the sky would not impress us much now.

This building is interesting chiefly because it promises bigger and better things to come.

Children of a century or two hence will be shown models of this and similar buildings and told, "These are buildings that men used to live in, and called BIG, before they combined building and flying."

This 81-story building seems now overwhelming. In days to come men will build mountains of steel and glass, one, two or three miles high, with terraces as landing places for flying machines.

An entire industry will be housed in one single building. Workers and managers will fly to it in a thousand airplanes from different mountain tops, work at their desks all day, then fly home.

Those alive now will not see it, but the future will see a city made up of one single building, people getting into the elevators and going DOWN, instead of getting in at the bottom and going UP. There will be landing places for flying machines, exercising grounds, wide streets along the top of the building.

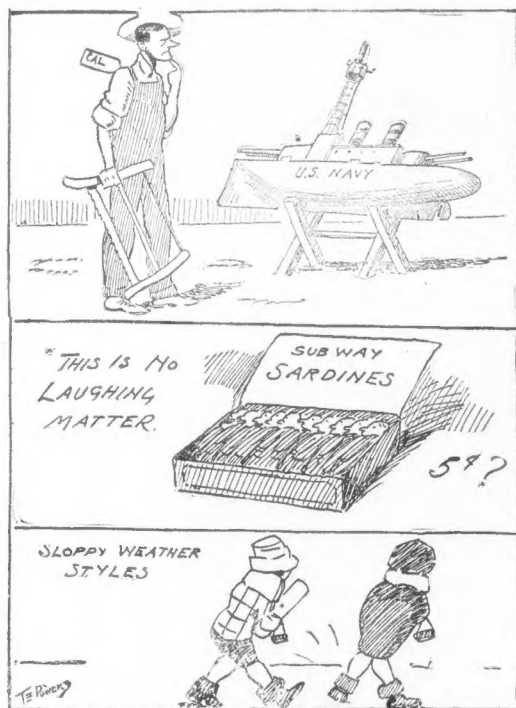

What men are building now will seem like a lot of little ant hills compared with the buildings of the future. That is why building heights are not limited. Men should be encouraged to do all they can. AT THEY CAN DO.

$85,000,000 to Bookmaker

And Fools Wonder Why They "Can't Get Ahead"

Young men that bet on races do not realize that they are building up one of the greatest criminal industries in history. One bookmaker in New York handled $85,000,000 in one year, without operating at any track.

In Maryland pari-mutuels betting takes in $51,000,000 a season and pays $785,000 State tax. More than a thousand million dollars is lost by betting every year, and the silly victims wonder why they "never seem to get ahead in the world." They don't get ahead because their money goes to fatten pocketbooks of professional gamblers, paying the expenses of gentlemen that wish to enjoy racing, at somebody else's expense. Haven't you somebody that needs it. He won't like it—but that is all right.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

Constant review is necessary so that certain knowledge is permanently yours. This is most easily managed through five minutes devoted each day to these questions.

Who wrote these lines?

1. "Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp."
2. "Helen, thy beauty is to me Like those Niobe's barks of yore That gently o'er a perfumed sea The weary wayward wanderer bore To ope his native shore."
